Prosecutor cites self-defense in declining to charge woman who killed off-duty KCFD firefighter

"According to court documents, Santi intervened when a customer argued with a clerk who told him the gas station didn't have the kind of cigars he wanted. After the clerk refused the man service and told him to leave, Santi, who was off duty, also told him to leave.

The customer "jumped away" from Santi and started threatening him, court records said. Surveillance video showed the incident move outside, when the man reaches into a white SUV and pulls out an item.

The video showed Santi and the man fighting over the item — a firearm with an extended magazine, according to court documents. When Santi got the man in a headlock, a female passenger left the vehicle, got the gun and pointed it at Santi.

She allegedly fired a shot that appeared to hit Santi in the back, according to court records.

Santi let go of the man and walked back into the store, where he collapsed and died, court records said."

PRESIDENT DONALD J. TRUMP

- October 27, 2022 -

Statement by Donald J. Trump, 45th President of the United States of America

Congratulations to Elon Musk on his purchase of Twitter. Many people are saying that change was needed, as the old management was too concerned with the woke agenda. I have been told that my account will be back up and running on Monday - we will see. Happy to be able to engage with an African-American owned business!

open drug scene." In the driveway, there is a broken-down camper van. On the street is a yellow school bus, which neighbors said DePape occasionally stayed in. Both are filled with garbage typical of such structures in homeless encampments. People come and go from the house and the vehicles, neighbors say, in part to partake in the use of a potent psychedelic drug, ibogaine.

Neighbors described DePape as a homeless addict with a politics that was, until recently, left-wing, but of secondary importance to his psychotic and paranoid behavior. "What I know about the family is that they're very radical activists," said one of DePape's neighbors, a woman who only gave her first name, Trish. "They seem very left. They are all about the Black Lives Matter movement. Gay pride. But they're very detached from reality. They have called the cops on several of the neighbors, including us, claiming that we are plotting against them. It's really weird to see that they are willing to be so aggressive toward somebody else who is also a lefty."

Not all of the news media missed DePape's history of drug use, psychosis, and homelessness. CNN reported that a woman named Laura Hayes, who said she worked with DePape 10 years ago making hemp bracelets, said he had been living in a storage shed. "He talks to angels," she said, and told her that "there will be a hard time coming."

Another woman, Linda Schneider, told CNN and Bay Area NBC TV affiliate, KRON4, that she got to know DePape around 2014 and that he was still homeless, living in a DePape posted frequently on social media, often making racist and rambling comments that included questioning the results of the 2020 election, defending former President Donald Trump and echoing QAnon conspiracy theories.

Fall of Roman Empire caused by widespread homosexuality

A prominent Italian historian has claimed that the Roman Empire collapsed because a "contagion of homosexuality and effeminacy" made it easy pickings for barbarian hordes, sparking a furious row.

The Conservative Catholic historians Roberto De Mattei explains the danger of acceptance of Homosexuality.

Roberto De Mattei, 63, the deputy head of the country's National Research Council, claimed that the empire was fatally weakened after conquering Carthage, which he described as "a paradise for homosexuals".

The remarks prompted angry calls for his resignation, with critics saying his comments were homophobic, offensive and unbecoming of his position.

NY man sprung on no bail in Facebook-posted beating executes wife in front of kids just hours later: cops

By Emily Crane, Reuven Fenton, Carl Campanile and Gabrielle Fonrouge

November 1, 2022 | 4:47pm | Updated

A man in Norway is sparking backlash after being sympathetically profiled on television for his "trans-disability."

Jørund Viktoria Alme is able-bodied, but uses a wheelchair "almost all the time" because he identifies as a woman who is paralyzed.

Clay 30
Communist, anti-imperialist. Nonbinary & bi. I work with teens at a mental hospital and I'm in grad school to be a therapist. Not a terrible person. Mentally ill, in a hot way. Your dog will love me....

Joe Biden claims he spoke to the man who "invented" insulin —— but, that man died before Biden was born! 🤦‍♂️

To commemorate my second shot of Pfizer vaccine I got a band-aid tattooed where I was jabbed. People are already commenting when they see it and feel safe that I'm fully vaccinated. I still wear my mask to protect others.
